

Carbon Literacy: Creative Climate Action Training

Do you want to proactively respond to climate crisis with direct action?

Are you seeking to drive green recovery through carbon reduction?

Want to upskill your team with the knowledge and skills to become environmental sustainability advocates?

Carbon Literacy: Creative Climate Action Training is for you!

What is it?

HOME's Carbon Literacy: Creative Climate Action Training delivers an awareness of the carbon impacts of our everyday activities, and the ability and motivation to reduce emissions on an individual, community and organisational basis.

What is HOME?

HOME is Manchester's creative cultural space where everyone is welcome. We create, develop and present new experiences and new stories from our city and from across the world. To find out more visit www.homemcr.org

HOME is a leader in best environmental sustainable policy and practice and is recognised for its commitment to reducing its environmental impacts. As ambassadors for change, we actively support Greater Manchester's Zero Carbon 2038 strategies, and as cultural leaders we advance the growth of our sector through innovative low-carbon initiatives. With environmental sustainability fully embedded into the heart of our organisation, its operations and programming, our efforts today strengthen a creative green future for tomorrow.

HOME is the world's first arts venue to achieve 100% staff trained in Carbon Literacy. We train all of our permanent staff within six months of joining, and we have been recognised with the top Platinum award in Carbon Literacy Project's Organisation accreditation scheme.

Our credentials:

- 2 Carbon Literacy Trainers (CLT)
- Carbon Literacy Organisation: Platinum (CLO)
- Carbon Literacy Training Organisation (CLTO)

HOME has trained over 300 individuals from more than 50 organisations spanning 7 nations.

What is the Carbon Literacy Project?

Founded in 2012, the Carbon Literacy Project aims to make Carbon Literacy learning accessible to everyone and works to create a low carbon culture. As the accreditation body, Carbon Literacy Project has certified thousands of citizens worldwide.

Can I join the training as part of a group or wider consortium?

The answer is again yes! We understand the power of collaborative action and our training options reflect this.

I am self-employed or part of a small organisation, can I take part?

Yes! We have a range of training options that are suitable for individuals, SMEs, organisations and consortia.

What are the costs?

You'll find these on pages 3 and 4.

Where does the training take place?

Wherever you are! We've developed a fully accredited remote training package delivered online by our Carbon Literacy Trainers. All you need is an internet connection and a laptop, tablet or mobile with Zoom installed. We offer specific dates and times for training, or you can contact us to discuss bespoke training packages.

What does training entail?

Over the course of 4 remotely delivered modules you'll receive a full day's worth of training. You'll become aware of climate crisis and its causes, you'll gain the knowledge and skills to reduce your carbon impact and understand the value of your actions.

You'll receive certification from the Carbon Literacy Project. Included in the cost of training, you'll become a member of HOME's Creative Climate Action Community to continue to build on your learning. Over the course of 12 months, you'll receive e-newsletters and the opportunity to join two additional carbon awareness sessions.

Training Outline:

1. Film (1 hour)
2. Webinar (1 hour)
3. Workshop Part 1 (1.5 hours)
4. Workshop Part 2 (1.5 hours)

There will be independent learning tasks between modules. At the end of the training you will complete a participant action form that is submitted to the Carbon Literacy Project for certification.

What are the benefits?

We each have our part to play in making and shaping planet-positive change. Carbon Literacy: Creative Climate Action training has many benefits:

- Gain the knowledge to act on and communicate about climate crisis
- Onboard your team and grow your green strategies
- Engage and empower your team to take responsibility to act
- Play your part in advocating climate justice and action
- Gain the skills to drive change and embed action through policy-making, team development and planning
- Become part of a creative climate network and track your progress

Who are the trainers?

HOME has two dedicated certified Carbon Literacy Trainers with a combined eight years of Carbon Literacy training experience. Added to that, the trainers have a wealth of knowledge and expertise in environmental sustainability, building and operations, policy development, team building and project management.
